Seeking Realization Through Association

We demand truth —
That illusive abstract which is,
in reality
life itself.
But, in this our time of seeking,
we discover only too much to experience becoming so fixed in tangled truth, we lose ourselves entirely.
Our ideas are challenged,
and our beliefs totter.
Where can this truth be found,
this which we feel is our right to have?
Since realization can come through people,
association is our solution.

We Sing, Dance And Laugh Together, Yet We Dream

In participating,
we associate with those around us.
We relate them to ourselves —
their values,
their reactions,
and their feelings.
Some we come to cherish —
Our memories of them
more meaningful than calendar events.
We must each reflect on these relationships —
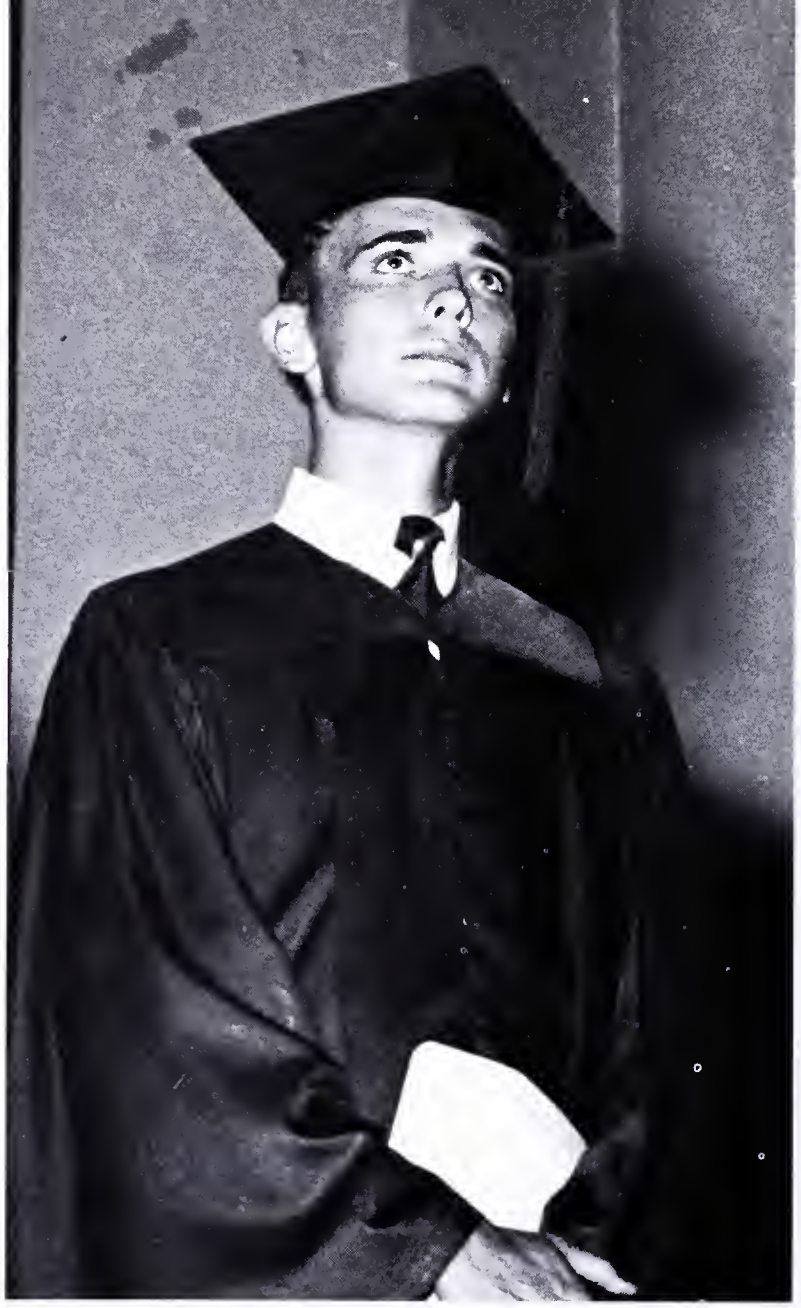
good,
bad,
or indifferent —
to find the truth we seek.

Alone



By Learning Together We Discover Life

We laugh.

We argue.

We listen.

We discuss.

We cry.

We think.

We try.

By involving ourselves

with other people,

we learn.

In sports, we are one,
whether alone
or as part of a team.
. . . the quiet conflict of striving
alone,
the nakedness of being entirely reliant on oneself.
. . . or together as a team
straining,
unconquerable,
proud.
In both, we extended beyond ourselves in the spirit of competition.

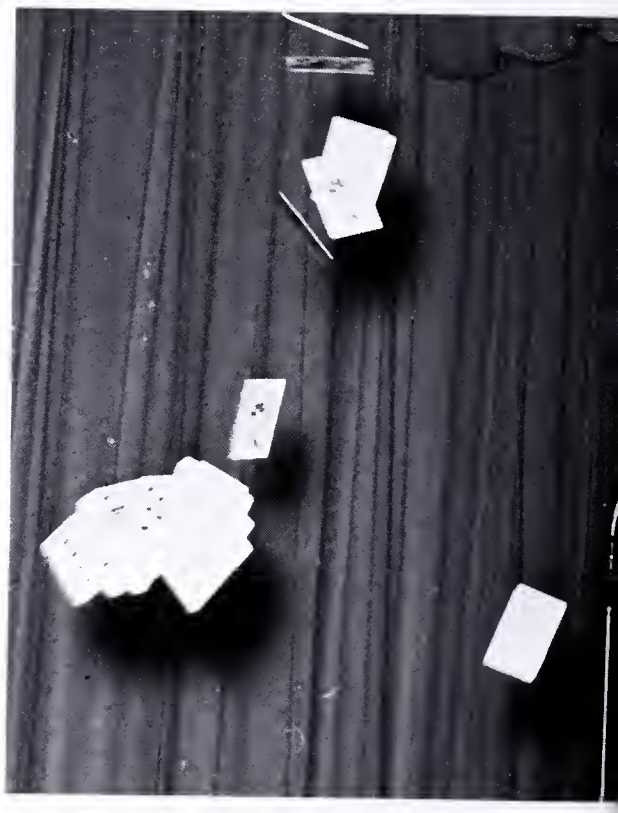
We Have Come To Realize The Ecstacy Of Success As Well As The Torment Of Defeat.



We Associate, And Our Thoughts And Plans Materialize

We stay when we could go home.
We stay because there is work to be done.
We stay because we care.
We work together;
our contrasting ideas develop,
clash,
and converge to become realizations.

Association Is The Beginning Of Understanding

Learning should be an experience, not
a memorization exercise.
Teachers,
as people like ourselves,
also learn
while they guide us through this our time of seeking.

School Life

Some of those we meet
we come to cherish.
Through them,
we open our hearts
to love
and hurt.
We open our minds
to deep thought
and learning.
We open our eyes
to the joy
and sunshine of friendship.
We open ourselves
to truth.

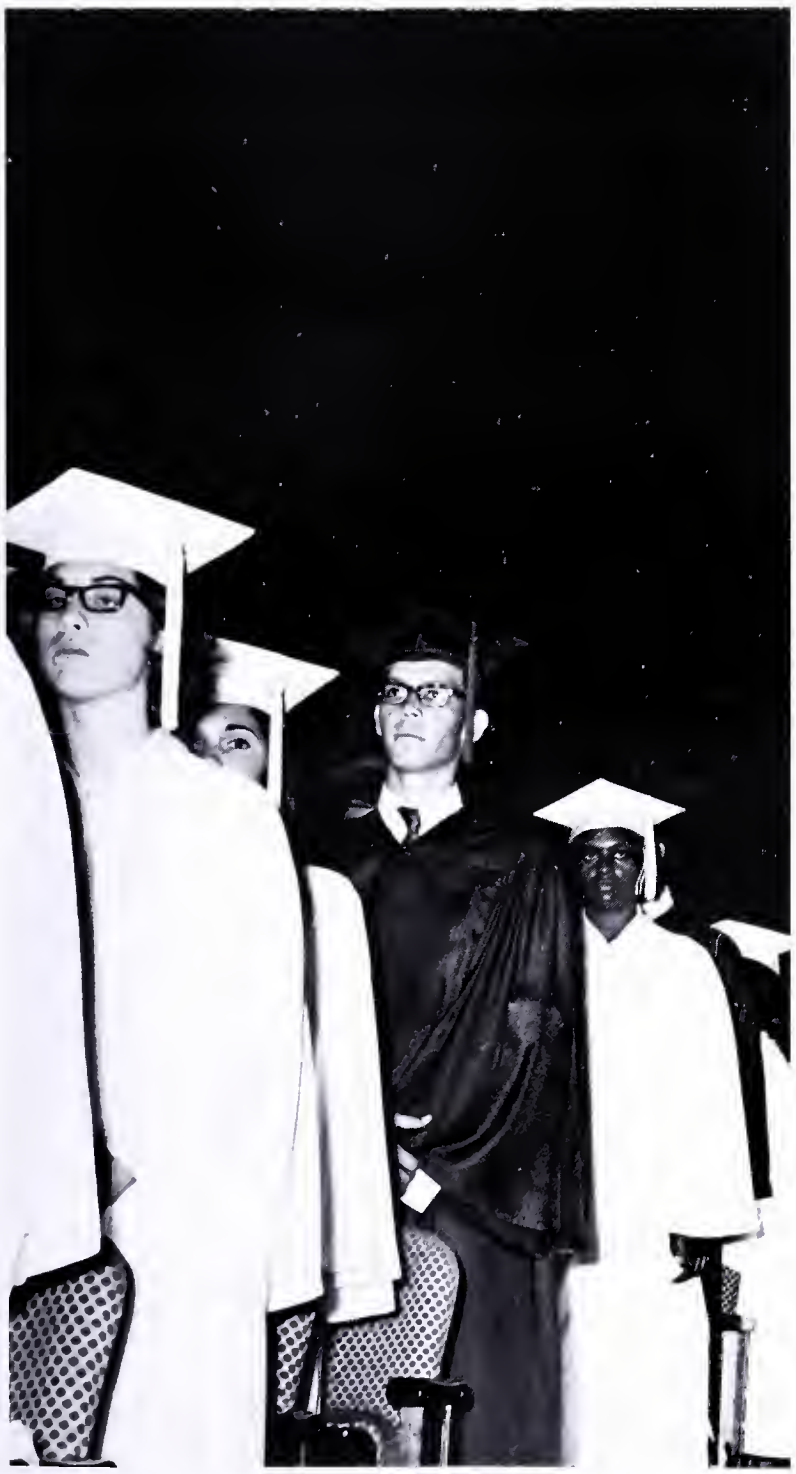
To Be Pretty . . .
To Be Active . . .
To Be A Part Of School Life

SPRING ACTIVITIES

The flower of spring harbored under her petals a variety of old and new ideas. For the first time in several years a powderpuff football game occurred between the juniors and seniors. After much practice the class of '70 shut-out the Seniors with a score of 6-0.

The splendor of spring was also marked by the annual beauty pageant with Miss Debbie Fick becoming Miss Mount Vernon. Her court included: Ava Christianson, Cindy Lawson, Debbie Eldridge, and Olive Scott.

School life begins — it happens and then it must end. This is a happy yet sad time for Seniors — graduation!



Touchdown! Pat Sullivan scores to enable the Class of '70 to win the Powder Puff football game. Jubilance shines on the face of Debbie Fick as she is announced as Miss Mount Vernon. Majorettes participated in the Winchester Apple Blossom Parade along with the band, color guard, and drill team. Graduation, the highlight in a Senior's life, the culmination of a twelve year dream and prospect of bigger and better things. Elections of new officers begins a trend of new ideas followed by action.

The Prom: A Junior's Beginning; A Senior's End

PROM

The 1969 Prom truly followed its theme, "The Sunshine of Our Life", by being held on the last day of school. On June 12 exalted Juniors and Seniors converged onto the dance floor with completely free spirits to music provided by the Magic Reign.

The persimmon and white carnation arrangements added to the atmosphere of the Persian Room at the Marriott Twin Bridges Motel. The long-stemmed roses that adorned the queen's throne helped make the coronation of Chris Crann especially beautiful.

It was an unforgettable evening for Juniors, and a final parting memory for Seniors.

Chris Crann, on the arm of Steve Randolph, walks to her coronation. Liddell Avery prolongs the suspense before announcing the court. Pat Sullivan and Gary Deck proceed to the stage area after the announcement of junior princesses.

MUSIC MAN

The Music Man, presented with much enthusiasm by its capable cast, won great recognition from its audiences. Lead parts, the proper Miss Marion Paroo and the rascally Professor Harold Hill, were played by Debby Fick and Ron Reinsel.

Beautiful songs like "My White Knight" and "Till There Was You" sent chills up the spine while crazy songs like "Shipoopi" and "Pick-a-little, Talk-a-little" kept the audiences laughing. Bright scenery and melodious voices blended together to make the Music Man one of Mount Vernon's finest and most entertaining productions.

Professor Hill excites Winthrop with news of the boys' band he is forming. Harmonizing, the River City School Board take time out from their constant bickering. The townspeople catch up to Professor Hill after he swindled money from them!

With A Capital "T" And That Rhymes With "P" And That Stands For Pool!

Salesmen talk bitterly about the lull in business. Marion, the Librarian, shakes off her serious air for a song with the distinguished ladies of River City.

Graduation: An Individual Interpretation

GRADUATION

The last activity a high school student participates in is graduation. What does graduation mean? Freedom? Diploma? College? Accomplishment? Beach? Hallelujah? Each individual has his own interpretation. It is a time to reminisce, to rejoice, to forgive, and to speculate. Graduation compels the acceptance of independence and responsibility. The June commencement means a final summer with high school friends before the inevitable parting.

Listening attentively, Seniors sit through Baccalaureate ceremonies. With a smile of approval, Senior Class President, Tim Koogle, glances at fellow classmates. A total look at commencement ceremonies.

Singing their hearts out, the Barbershop group consisting of Chris O'Brien, Jim Dalton, Carl Lindberg, John Long, and Phil Coker serenade the audience. Sentiment abounding, Brenda Gonzales accepts the Most Valuable Player Award from Coach Wingard. Caught catnapping, Debbie Eldredge doesn't seem to be able to get used to early school risings after lazy summer ones.

Competition For Titles And Awards Is Stiff.

FALL ACTIVITIES

Spirit is alive! Football is rampant, and students flock to the pep rallies to compete for the Pep Jug. At an afternoon pep rally the Key Club and Keyettes unveiled their contraption devised to "smash Atoms". The fall athletic season ended with an awards assembly at which trophies were presented to the most outstanding and the most improved participants of their respective fields.

Musically, Mount Vernon outdid itself this fall. The choral department presented its annual Fall Concert, and the S.C.A. sponsored a division of "Up With People" called "Sing-Out South". At the same time these were occurring, Debbie Eldridge and Pat Sullivan participated in the Northern Virginia Junior Miss Pageant sponsored by the Fairfax Jaycees.

Trio of patriotic young singers bring "Up with People" spirit via" Sing Out South" to Mount Vernon. Huddled together, Keyette "grannies", gleefully watch the Atom Smasher invented by the Key Club to demolish the opposition — the Atoms.

1969 — A Space Odyssey

HOMECOMING

Homecoming 1969 was old fashioned with its traditional preparations and excitement, yet very modern with its universal theme, a Space Odyssey. After a long week of preparations and Homecoming spirit everyone settled back to enjoy the game and wait in suspense for the half-time activities. Even without a fancy parade of moon men and astronauts Mount Vernon enjoyed a realistic setting for the Space Odyssey theme amid the natural parade of stars. With the announcement of the queen the suspense ended, but the excitement remained throughout the night. As the evening came to a close the Mighty Majors found themselves with a 32-2 victory over Groveton as well as an overwhelming anticipation toward additional Homecoming activities.

Former queen, Liddell Avery, sympathizes with the Senior Princesses as she reminisces her anxious feelings of the year before. Juniors, Sue Roscher, escorted by Gordon Iiams, and Tad Leverenz, escorted by Randy Hensen, think toward Homecoming 1970 and what the future holds for them.

John Scandling congratulates the queen with a Homecoming kiss. Pedaling along, Kevin Gaylor displays the Queen to the Homecoming audience. What has ten shapely legs and five pretty smiles and something special in the middle? . . . The Senior Homecoming Court: Barbara Williams, Lisa Bircher, Cindy Simpkins, Charlotte Riser, and Cathy Sweatt.

Sophomores, Ginna Ghent escorted by John Rice, and Nessa Van Dyken escorted by Tom Marfing, participate in their second Homecoming. Two traditional messages, "Majors are Rising" and "Welcome Home Alumni," are viewed from the stands as Lisa Gunderson and Patty Rice race against the clock to untie the drill team's balloons. Senior Princess, Cathy Sweatt, accompanied by Jim Barron, converses during a break at the dance.

Mount Vernonites "Rock Out" On The Moon Surface

HOMECOMING

Many will never forget this Homecoming Dance. They experienced the feeling of entering through an air lock to be faced with a barren space landscape. In every direction were free-flowing psychedelic-colored space scenes glowing under black lights. The decorations were designed and constructed by dance chairman, Vicki Hayes, and her committee. All the makings of a good dance were there: a great crowd and lots of dancing to the soulful music of Bobby Sax and the Housekeepers. The Queen and her court again were honored, and the last song marked the end of Homecoming '69 — A Space Odyssey.

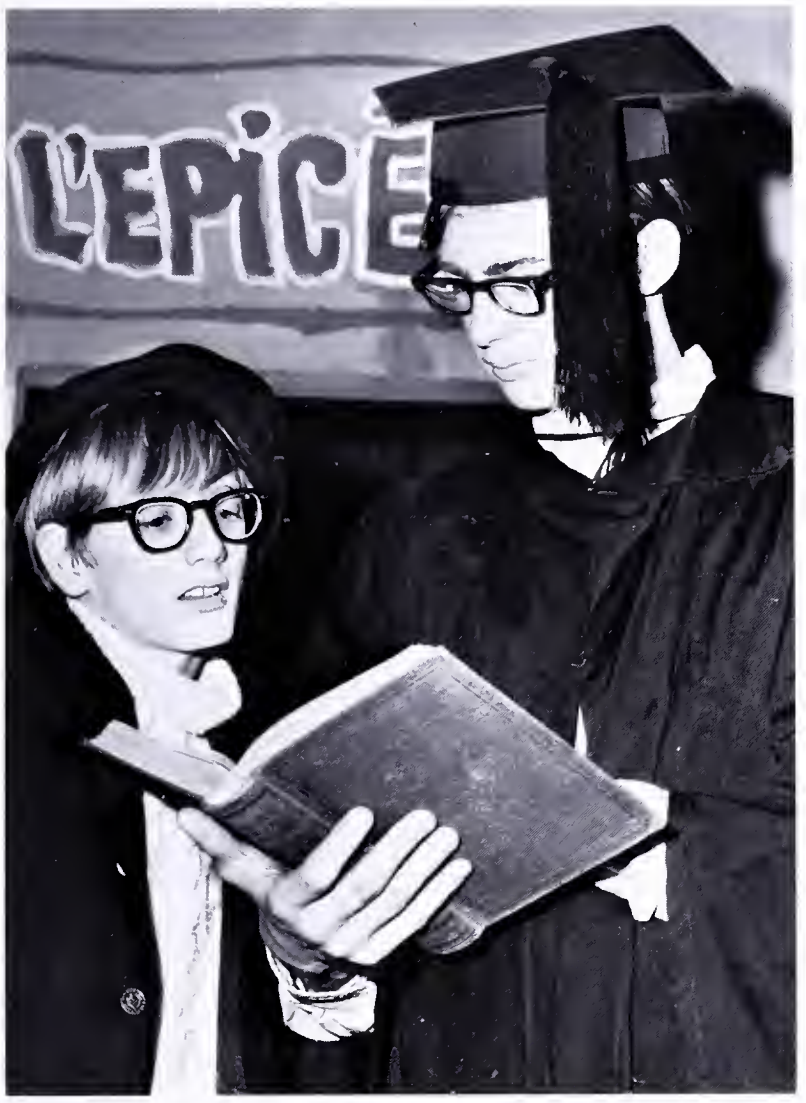
Amid the psychedelic space colors and scenery, Bobby Sax provided a variation in mood with soul music. Freshman couples, Vicki Kazlausky, escorted by Rick Reeves, and Barbara Sullivan, escorted by Mark Novak, make the most of their first Homecoming.

VARIETY SHOW

The activities of the Thespian Society are not limited to the production of plays. This fall they sponsored the annual Variety Show which provided an opportunity for students with hidden talents to express themselves and for those with proven talents to "ham it up". The prize money amounted to $100, and the remaining ticket money was added to the Thespian treasury. Because of the large response, auditions were held, and over ten acts were selected to participate in the show. Phil Coker won first place, while Ted Keppel and Bill Landry finished second and third respectively. A rousing performance by the Key Club's Kazookey Band ended the 1969 Variety Show, another successful Thespian production.

"Melvin B." Keppel declares, "I'm not a-gonna beat the devil around the stump." Last year's winner, Ken Newdeck, returns to give another superb performance. With guitar in hand, Phil Coker performs the "Love Theme to Romeo & Juliet".

Talent: A Variety Show And A Play



RHINOCEROS

Psychedelic paint on a cellophane background produced an eerie atmosphere for the first drama production of the school year, Eugene Ionesco's Rhinoceros. This thought-provoking, funny, and certainly eye-catching play proceeded under the excellent direction of Mr. Lee Pauley and Mrs. E. Landgrabe. The lead parts were played by Ron Reinsel, Kris Long, and Bob Tzudiker.

Never having produced a play of the avante-garde theater, the cast plunged in, after a few preliminary hesitations, with lots of enthusiasm. Audience response varied, as with any drama, but nevertheless, it was an intellectual experience for many.

"It's logical? If a cat has four legs . . . and a dog has four legs . . . then a cat is a dog?" Of course — or so says John King. Sobbing pitifully Marion Coffee mourns her "poor kitty" who was trampled by the Rhinoceros. Kris Long and Denise Dovlos try to comfort her.

Snow on the ground means a talk by Mr. Landes on the dangers of "snowballing". Mr. Skinner "takes two" while practicing for the Varsity-Faculty game. Wrapped like a mummy, Keyette Karen Paradise awaits her turn in the Pie Throwing Booth.

Snow Raises Hopes Of Unscheduled Holidays

WINTER ACTIVITIES

Dodging well-aimed snowballs, laboring on a Christmas bazaar, or maybe even studying for mid-terms . . . all are part of winter activities. The bazaar was a new project thought up by Mount Vernon's ever-creative Keyettes. Not only profitable, it taught members new skills: sewing, knitting, and even candle-making. The heavily-laden calender shows that winter does not mean a letup in schedule. Surely winter 1969-1970 will be remembered for its numerous events.

Before the start of the competition, MV's "It's Academic" team, George Stapleton, Richard Bauer, Don Fullerton, and sponsor Mrs. Gail Trutt pose for a picture. As the calendar falls, December slips by.

Captain Boyer of the United States Navy presents the flag from the combat ship, USS Sterett, to Mark Shiro for Mount Vernon. With horns ready the Commodores of the U.S. Navy band perform at a Senior Class Assembly. The Goodtimers from the U.S. Air Force band display their professional talents to become a favorite of the Junior and Senior Classes.

Unique Musical Happenings Come To MV

FOLK CONCERT AND SPECIAL ASSEMBLIES

Several new events were added to the school's schedule this year. At the SCA-sponsored Folk Concert, the performance included both professionals and amateurs. Those from MV were Steve Griney, Phil Coker, and The Gallery. In spite of many doubts and organizational difficulties, the Folk Concert evolved as a success.

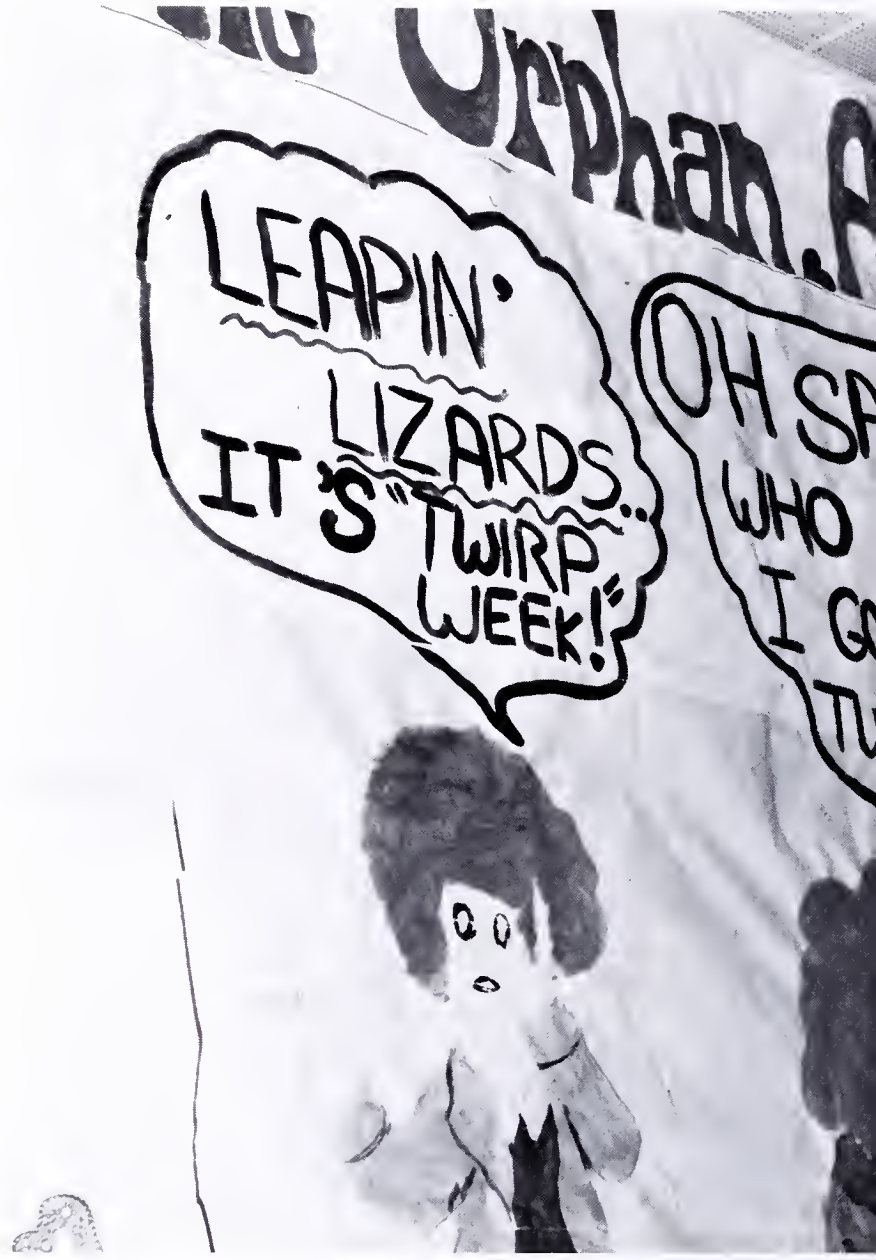
Mr. Landes treated juniors and seniors to special educational assemblies. The first featured the Goodtimers from the Air Force Band who produced an exceptionally dynamic show. At the second assembly, an American combat flag was presented from the U.S. Navy. The seniors were entertained by the Navy's jazz orchestra, The Commodores. These additional activities helped to generate a spirited school life.

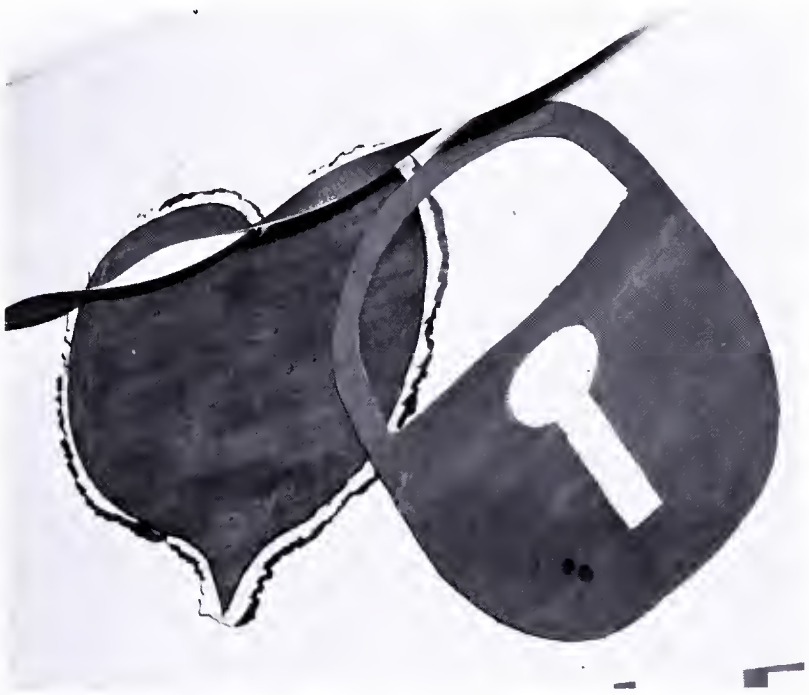
"Male Massacre" Featured For Twirp Week

TWIRP WEEK

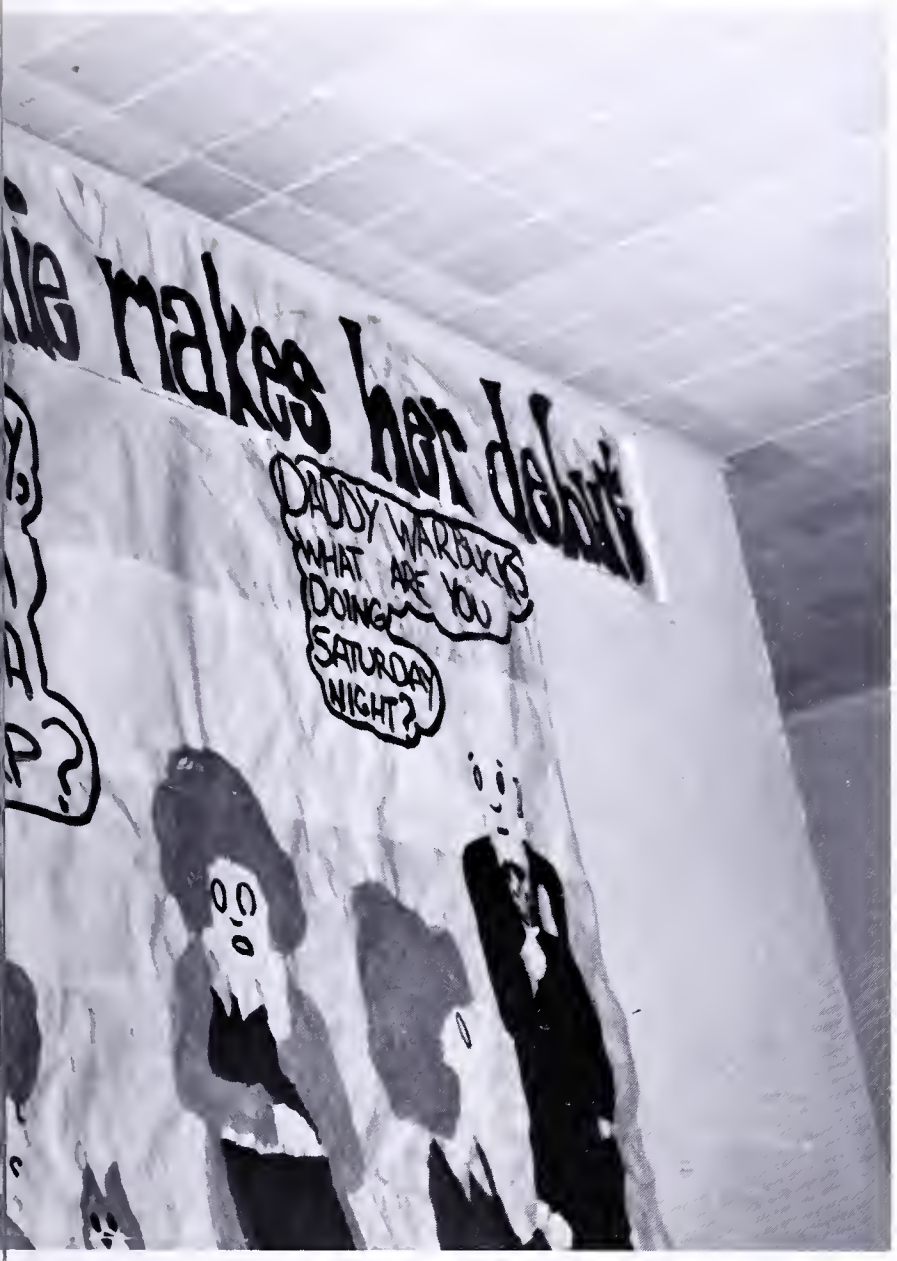
"To Twirp or not to Twirp," was the question most frequently pondered during the week of February 9-14. This is the one week during the school term when Mount Vernon's girls venture forth to adopt the aggressive role of the male. The feminine sector gains the opportunity to finally ask out that secret or favorite love.

The week's activities included a Lollipop Day, a Battle-of-the-Bands and the big Twirp Dance, all centered around the theme, "A Saint Valentine's Day Massacre." The announcement of the Twirp King and Queen took place at the dance. The couple, Tad Leverenz and Doug Jones, were selected because the Junior Class put up the most ransom. The week ended with the males' egos boosted and the females hoping never to have to take the initiative again.





A locked heart from the Senior Hall helped to make them second place winner. Twirp King and Queen, Tad Leverenz and Doug Jones, pause for a moment at the dance.



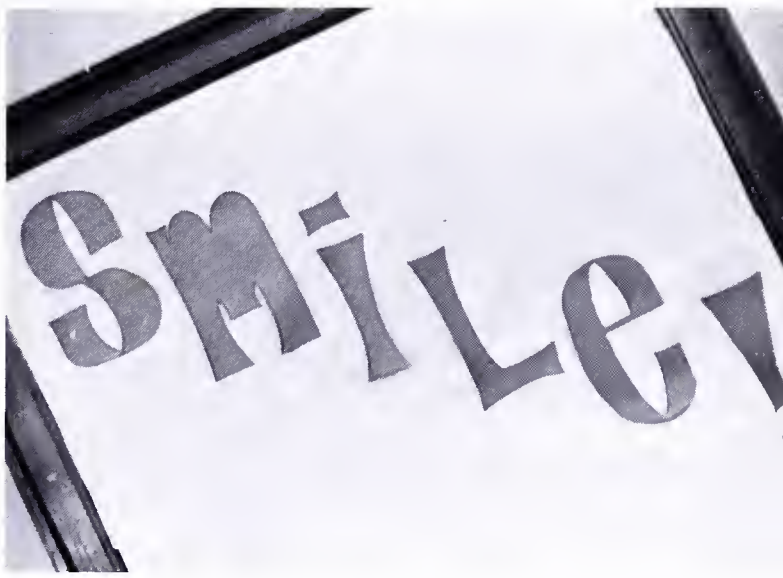
Little Orphan Annie decorated the first place hall belonging to the Sophomores. Lollipop eater, Julie Early, enjoys the privilege of eating in class. The Blue Flask came out on top as the best liked at the Battle-of-the-Bands.

Another Year Passed

YEAR ACTIVITIES

The year ends. Walking out of the doors of Mount Vernon, seniors take a final glance at the events of their high school years. It does not seem like so long ago when they were bewildered Freshmen, blundering through the halls searching for that famous, but nonexistent, elevator or a sophisticated Sophomore realizing that they were no longer the babies of the school. Then came the Junior year with the pride of beating out the senior class in the number of Pep Jug wins. But nothing was as great as being a Senior and being able to cut in the lunch line or going outside while the underclassmen suffered in the classrooms. Could all of this have happened in four short years? The vision vanishes, and the doors shut, only to reopen in the fall with '71 as the dominant number and a new one appearing, '74.

Chuck Bell presents Coach Miller with a plaque from the football team at the Fall Awards Assembly. Left — Right — Left, the boys drill team for the Powderpuff game create chaos.



Sitting in Silence, one of M.V.'s busses waits through the summer for the next school year. It's Friday! Where are you going? Smile! Is there a better way to end the school year.

Classes

People are life.

Life is change.

Change brings realizations.

Without these realizations,

we are ignorant.

With them, we can be honest with ourselves

and with one another.

This truth can hurt, and that is perhaps the hardest part of all.

But it must be accepted if we want to learn.

FRESHMAN CLASS

We, the class of 1973, were the beginners. But, we gained lawn privileges for a week in spring by outselling the other classes in the Magazine Campaign. We outyelled all the others too, winning the most Friday morning pep jugs. Our football team had the largest turnout in the school's history. Another first was the election of our class officers. A willingness to learn was the outstanding trait of the class of '73.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

We, the class of 1972, abolished the election of our class council representatives in an effort to obtain more spirit and unity. The representatives were chosen on the basis of attendance at class meetings. For Halloween, we sold pumpkins for a profit of $93.00. Our "Sophomore Scoreboard" generated interest in JV football, and Bits and Pieces, the class bulletin board, informed us of sophomore activities. In this our second year at Mount Vernon, we showed the strength of the class of '72 to be unique and growing.

JUNIOR CLASS

We, the class of 1971, finally became upperclassmen. We took on the jobs of selling programs at football games and cleaning the stadium the next morning. By trick-or-treating for UNICEF and winning the Pep Jug, we demonstrated our spirit. We helped plan the prom and awaited the next step — our senior year during which we shall continue to work.

SENIOR CLASS

We, the class of 1970, counted the days until our night at Constitution Hall. We initiated an egg sale and sponsored a November dance. The Tysons Corner Mall became the site of our prom. We will carry into the future a spirit and enthusiasm gained from being the class of '70 making decisions, mistakes and improvements.

Sports

We are confident,
determined,
and ready to satisfy the desires we have built up
in all our straining,
excruciating
practice.
That one chance which we are allowed brings either victory
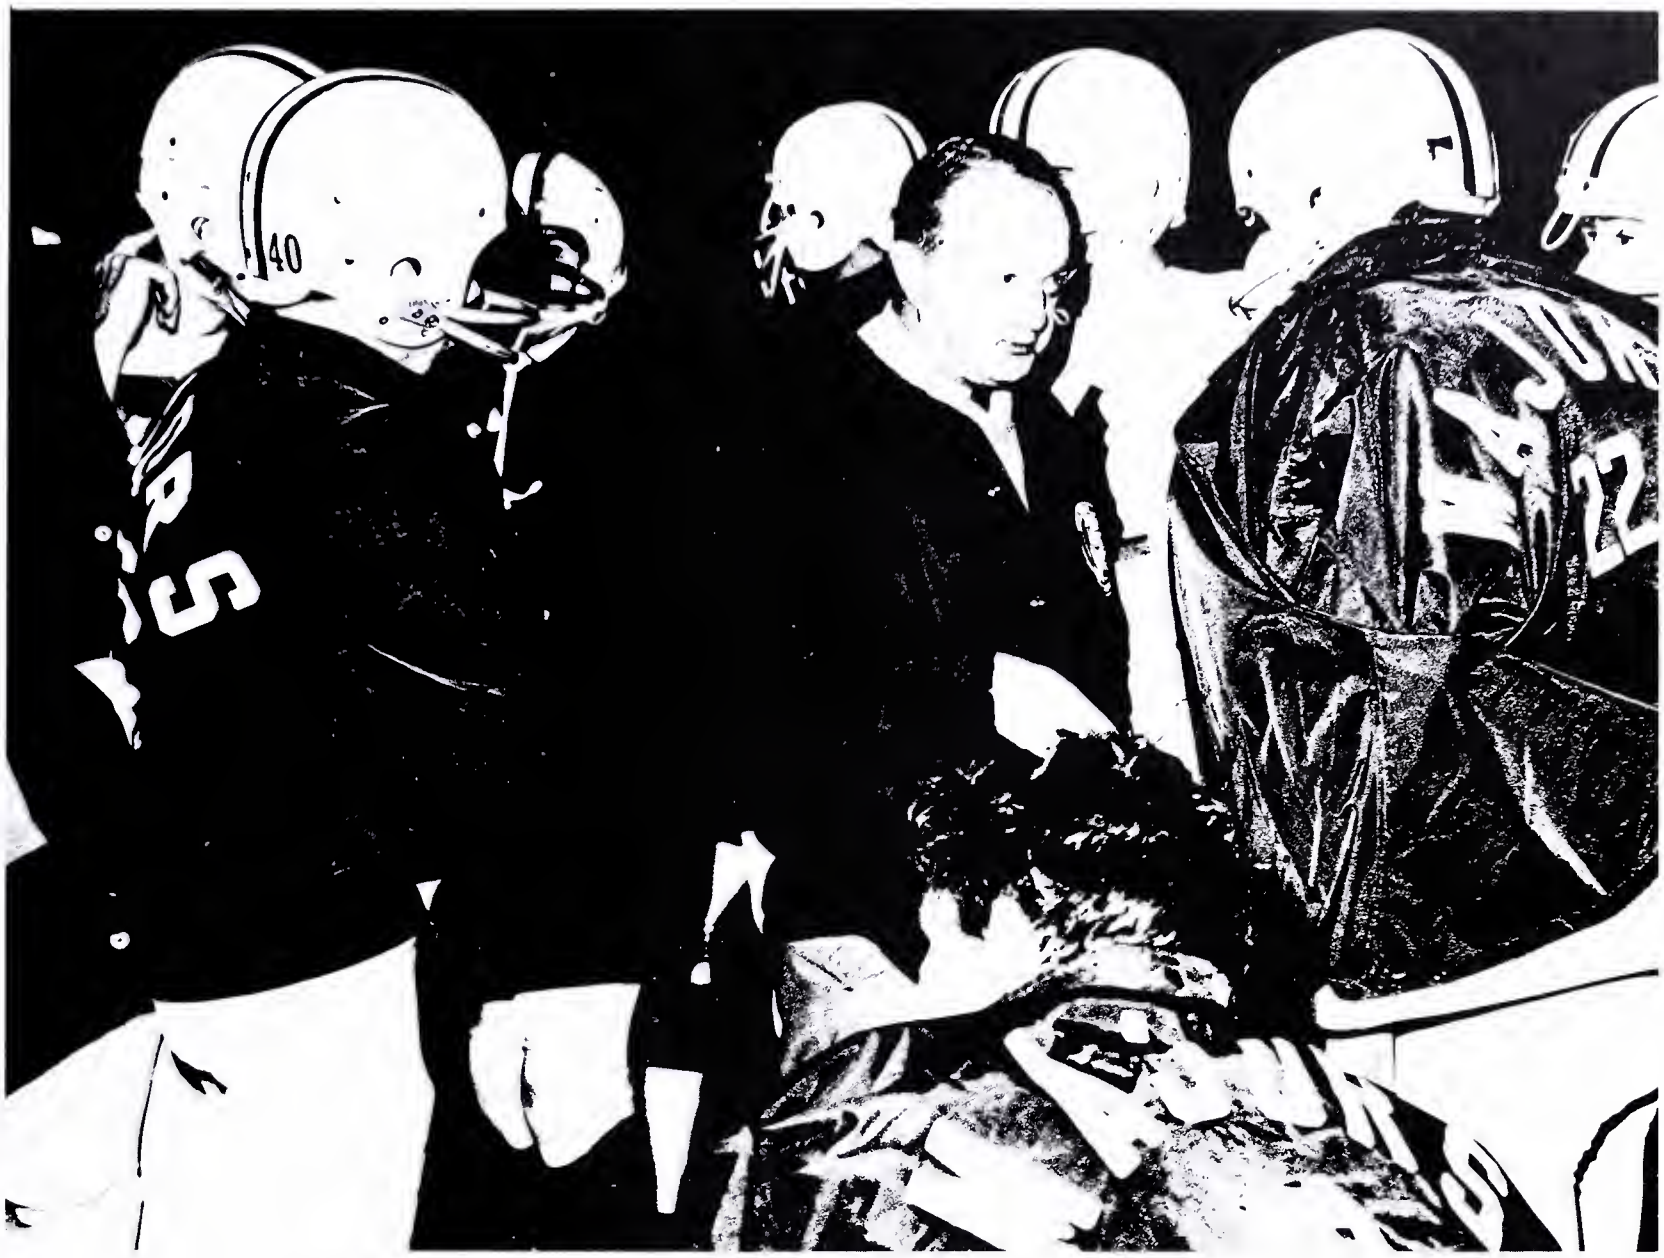
or defeat,
joy
or humility.
But whatever comes,
it brings wisdom.



Barely making it, Lou Berry skims over the high jump. Up, Up, and away, Mike Hackett clears the bar. Breaking the tape, Cliff Goldthwaite scores 5 for the Major victory over Lee.

An Undefeated Track Team Wins District Honors

TRACK

Track. Many keel over and almost die at the mere mention of this grueling sport. To go out to that track day after day, and to run around and around requires desire and stamina which even trackmen never before thought they had. Through two months of exhausting practice, Coach Grove used the trackmen's ardent desire, endurance, and skill to develop a championship team. The final and most rewarding victory of the season was the capture of the district title. A most surprising team, the trackmen deserve much credit in the development of the MV sports machine of 1968-1969.

BASEBALL

Baseball runs cold and hot, the season begins in the freezing cold of February and ends in the blistering heat of May. It begins with hands frozen so stiff and so numb that pain strikes with every contact of bat and ball; it ends with perspiration dripping and running down your face. It begins with sore arms and the never-ending struggle to get in shape with the end reward being the thrill and pride of victory or the agony and disappointment of defeat.

These hard practices in February coupled with competitive drive and a tremendous amount of natural ability, enabled our Majors to go beyond their second consecutive Gunston District Championship, to the Regional Play-Off against Madison. Although defeated we had gone further than any baseball team in Mount Vernon's twenty-nine year history. Rather than just one or two individuals, Coach John Yednock had a team of which to be proud.

Dodging a bad pitch, Bill Jourdan prefers to hit the ball rather than walk.

Ready for the throw, Richard Lamb prepares to make a force out. Waiting at home with the ball, Larry Hartman is ready to tag the runner out. Watching for signals from the catcher, Bob Hill contemplates his next pitch.

GOLF AND TENNIS

Complementing M.V.s championship Baseball and Track teams are the Golf and Tennis teams. These little known and poorly supported teams are also quite successful. Coached by Mr. Pat Freeman, our golfers stroked their way into third place in the district with a 3-2 record. The racketeers, plagued by a lack of experience and tough competition, managed to reach the .500 plateau under the excellent coaching of Mr. Stewart Christiano.

Preparing for the putt, Dave Duffy lines up his golf ball.

Girl's Among The Victors

GIRL'S VARSITY SOFTBALL
With hard work and determination, our girl's softball team turned in another successful season. Led by co-captains Meg Lockwood and Chris Clark, they improved on last year's mediocre season by compiling a 7-3 record. This is Mount Vernon's first Girl's Softball championship team and it helped enable our sports program to wrap up its sixth District Championship of 1969.

Practicing her curve, Meg Lockwood warms up before a game. Awaiting the throw to plate, Mary Hahn prepares to catch the ball.

Varsity Softball — Front Row: L. Moore, C. Clark, M. Lockwood, S. Stein, Second Row: P. Guyer, B. Gonzales, R. Randall, E. Ratkus. Third Row: M. Hahn, N. Fitzgerald.

Finishing with another winning season for head coach, Jack Miller our 1969 team terminated the year as they began it with a comeback victory, but this time over arch-rival, Fort Hunt.

It was a very difficult season in which Coach Miller completely changed his offense. This transition was an inconvenience, but along with our stubborn defense we compiled a six game winning streak which our returning ironmen will carry into their first match. Even more important, they will display the pride and confidence that they inherited from this year's team.

A small Titan halfback crumbles under the Majors' tenacious defense.

FIELD HOCKEY

This group of MV female athletes have demonstrated a tremendous amount of determination, courage, and desire. Facing a very tough District, and the perennial lack of school support, our girls never gave up. Although it is very questionable whether or not they were guilty of salivating, tripping, and playing dirty, it is obvious that these Majorettes represented MV to the best of their abilities. This hard work and desire was finally rewarded with an upset victory over the powerful Jefferson in a close, hard-fought game of defensive playing.

Bullying for the ball, Majors ready to execute another play towards victory.

CROSS COUNTRY

One would think of a walk through the woods as rather refreshing. But the cross country man, who associates woods with the cross country course, can only think of endless running and its result — exhaustion. Our cross country team felt the exhilaration of victory only occasionally this year as they defeated few of their adversaries. Natural ability may have been the most lacking attribute, for these runners do possess endurance as they are driven on through the woods by Coach Privette.

GYMNASTICS

While other new sports are introduced into the programs of area schools, Gymnastics still expands at a slow pace. Due to the lack of proper facilities the boys are forced to practice at Walt Whitman, while the girls must perform late at night. Nevertheless, the team continues to grow under the direction of coaches Richard Myler and Gail Wingard, as shown by its ability to compete with perennial powers Wakefield and Yorktown, and by the institution of the girls team.

Girl's Gymnastics — Front Row: E. Cancilla, C. Murane, C. Thomas, P. Thomas. Second Row: P. Preston, C. Kersey, D. Hofmann, S. Thomas, C. Peters, G. Bard, Co-Captain, P. Sullivan, Captain.

GIRL'S BASKETBALL

Our Girl's Varsity Basketball Team has encountered a season of ultimate frustration this year. The defending District Champions looked forward to a promising year, but a season full of tough losses has ruined their dreams. Coach Susan Vail has spent the whole year switching personnel in an attempt to obtain a successful winning combination, but her efforts have seemingly gone in vain and our girls will have to relinquish their Championship Title.

Coach Susan Vail discusses pre-game strategy with co-captains Nancy Day and Kathy Polhamus.

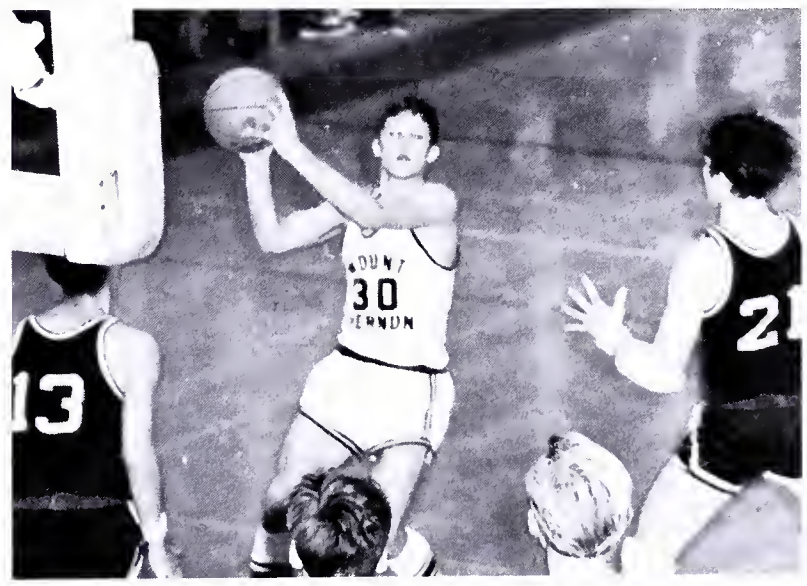
Roundballers Triumph Over Area Rivals

BASKETBALL

Although the 1969-70 basketball team did not have a winning record, the Majors did develop a winning attitude. Throughout the season the cagers seldom failed to bounce back from mounting deficits. As a result almost every game was decided in the final minutes, and, frequently, seconds. During these games, the Majors displayed the potential to play with the best in Northern Virginia. However, they were extremely inconsistent, and this, along with a critical lack of experience, attributes to the cause of their losses.

Undoubtedly the climax of the season was the Majors' 47-45 overtime victory over Edison, last year's District champs and ranked third in Northern Virginia at the time. This game, following victories over Fort Hunt and Lee, could have been the turning point to bring basketball at Mount Vernon on the upswing under Coach Kenny Legins.



Closing in on Fort Hunt's Dave Demeter Randy Hinson goes for the steal. Hanging in mid-air, Ted Leverenz shoots over a taller opponent. Penetrating the Edison zone, Randy Hinson prepares to shoot.

MV Sends Seven Wrestlers To State

WRESTLING

To wrestle is to worry about weight, opponents, coaches, officials, and moves. It is not an uncommon sight to see a wrestler before a match looking like he is in another world. The pressure is enormous; an individual sport requires it. So often does one see a wrestler freeze and come off the mat a disgusted loser. Yet, again, the next week that wrestler may bounce back and look like a champion. One must admit that it is a psychologically overpowering sport. A championship team was developed amidst the stairs, pools of sweat, and tired starved bodies. Conditioning and a wealth of moves were the ways to victory under Mr. Steve Kendall, the new wrestling coach. Experience was afforded to the team by assistant coach Tim Kerlin. The wrestling team went to the district tournament and came out with the title and seven individual champions. Dedication can be the only factor behind an excellent team — in any sport.

STUDENT COOPERATIVE ASSOCIATION

With the advent of a new administration many changes were made by the new president. The Cabinet system was reorganized and expanded by the executive council. With these added forces and the aid of an involved sponsor, President Scooter Scott pitted the SCA against the forces of drugs, apathy, smoking, communications and other related problems. The student government strived to involve the students, to let them feel that it is their SCA.

A few battles were lost, but the SCA never retreated. They regrouped and marched on, still fighting, and at the same time rebuilding to make a firm foundation for the student government.

Key Clubbers Make Repairs For Coffeehouse

KEY CLUB

Every Tuesday night a group of dedicated, industrious, creative young men meet in room 108. They come together with a common goal — service to school, community, and nation — and call themselves the Key Club.

Key Clubbing never stops. Starting after graduation they umpired Little League baseball games and helped their female counterparts (the Keyettes) clear out a wooded lot for a future Y.W.C.A. They became involved with the U.C.M. coffeehouse, The King's Way Theater, which will provide a place for the youths of the Mount Vernon-Groveton area to gather.

Hand on mike, Bill Stagg offers his services as announcer at basketball games while Kevin Gaylor keeps score.

Keyettes Show Flair For Ingenuity

"A good Keyette works 'til she is tired, a great Keyette works 'til she is exhausted." Keyettes means fun — parties with the Key Club, slumber parties, talk sessions at meetings — but it also means hard work that requires enthusiasm and determination.

To support this year's international project, American Indians, they adopted a ten year old Cherokee Indian girl. Other undertakings included the Keyette Bazaar, which employed all possible Keyette talents and for the second year Beautify Mount Vernon Week was sponsored.

SENIOR HONOR SOCIETY

To most people honor society brings to mind eggheads, bookworms, geniuses, and the like. However, the Senior Honor Society prides itself in the varied backgrounds and abilities of its members. Sportsmen (and women), cheerleaders, intellects, and general fun-lovers are all represented in the club. The honor society tried to take a few steps forward this year so that it might stand out a little in the eyes of the student body as a respected part of the school.

Honor Societies Introduce Computer Dance To MV

JUNIOR HONOR SOCIETY

To be inducted into the Junior Honor Society a student must, in addition to having high grades, possess qualities of leadership and a willingness to serve. Under the direction of President Nick Barnet and Vice President Judy Fortney, the Junior Honor Society successfully carried out several new projects and activity ideas. The big event of 1969 was a Christmas party featuring ice skating and a turkey dinner. Members had additional fun and recreation at two picnics which they organized in the Spring. These underclass whizzes also channeled their superior academic abilities into tutoring less fortunate students.

LANGUAGE HONOR SOCIETIES

Membership in the French and Spanish Honor Societies is offered to third- and fourth-year students with a superior grade average in their language and a recommendation from their language teacher. The societies serve to cultivate interest in the languages and cultures of foreign countries by such means as taking trips to foreign-language movies in Washington and going to restaurants. Members served their school by volunteering to participate in a system of tutoring during study halls for those having trouble in a language. Annual induction banquets, at which native foods are served and where the induction ceremony is carried out exclusively in the mother tongue, are other important events on the Honor Societies' calendars.

INTERNATIONAL THESPIANS

Thespian is the name, not "Thesbian" or "This bein' " or any other contortion, but T-h-e-s-p-i-a-n, a word meaning "of or pertaining to drama". The International Thespian Society is a group of people with the theater, in all its aspects, as a common bond.

This year the qualifications for membership were changed to require a more varied participation in the dramatic arts, so that members would come from many different areas of production and give the club versatility.

French Club Joins Students Interested In France And Her Culture

GERMAN CLUB

Determined to be an active club, the German Club began their plan of action by holding weekly meetings and sponsoring group activities such as restaurant trips, ice skating excursions, filmstrip viewing, and other varied events. With the aid of their new sponsor, a native German, Miss Swoboda, the club managed to keep its members involved as well as to entice other interested students to its frequent functions.

Or, would you believe . . . a 400-pound bull being manhandled by a 100-pound bully? How about hearing Mr. Vaughn sing? These "improbable events" are just some of the routine occurrences at annual Spanish Club functions. Besides sponsoring several parties and fiestas, the Spanish Club stressed foreign culture by having slides, a panel discussion, an International Dinner, and several restaurant trips.

Drenched, Mike Callahan successfully hits the surprise piñata that the Spanish Club officers planted.

LATIN CLUB

The fact that the language and culture of the ancient Romans has great influence on our world today is evident everywhere. The Latin Club, under the guidance of new sponsor, Mrs. Gearhart, helped to develop interest in classical Latin and Roman history and to increase understanding of the important part it has played. During Latin Week, March 6-13, members held their annual pizza dinner. Another original club project was The Latin Free Press, a newspaper written in Latin and edited by Junior Diane Baker.

In Classical tradition, the Latin Club's Saturnalia is held wearing togas as the style of dress and laurels to adorn their heads.

Looking Both To The Past And To The Future

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

The IRC, devoted to developing understanding between nations, has (literally) added a new dimension. With the moon landing, the club was no longer concerned with only International Relations (however remote they may seem!). The club is seeking a charter with the American Field Service. This would allow them to have foreign exchange students in our school. Other plans are for guest speakers and discussions of politics and current events. Sponsor Mrs. DeHostos helped the club with her knowledge of Latin America.

Officers — G. Gorwitz, Treasurer; P. Morrison, Secretary; P. Meads, President; K. Dumas, Vice President.

International Relations Club — Seated: R. Cohn, V. Vatsia, N. Day, J. Woods, J. Wilkins, K. Gaylor, N. Athanason. Standing: D. Robbins, M. Peters, S. Wunderly.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS

The members of the Future Homemakers of America have worked hard to make their club active. They have carried out such activities as visiting an old folk's home, writing to soldiers in Viet Nam, having speakers on social work and drugs, as well as planning activities for families to help unify them.

Seated in the Home Ec. Cottage is Charlotte Riser, FHA State Vice president.

Future Homemakers — Seated: P. Olson, S. Laliberte, R. Loelkes, C. Riser, P. Friese, C. Moore, N. McCormack. Second Row: M. Gordon, J. Swenson, L. Annis, S. Schaefer, K. Abbot, J. Sargent, C. Hicks, H. Dougherty, H. Webb, R. DiNunzio, B. Whittington. Third Row: M. Gaunt, M. Brevard, J. Rezzardy, P. Conant, K. Becker, F. Wolfe, L. Murray, P. Howe, A. Baez.

Girls Follow Path Of Experience For Future Lives

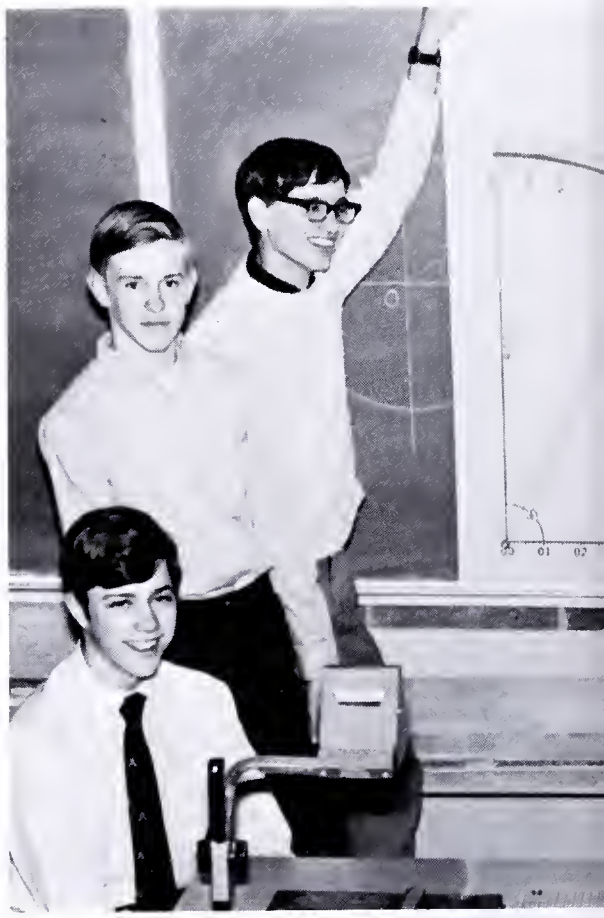
FUTURE SECRETARIES

Within the school there is a group of girls with an interest in the business world, the Future Secretaries of America. Mainly made up of vocational students, the club serves as an outlet for these girls to get together and share ideas. Being combined into an organization enables the girls to expand upon their common interest and to plan such activities as visiting an old folks' home, taking underprivileged children on a field trip, as well as co-sponsoring the annual Miss Mount Vernon Beauty Contest.

Standing by her locker, FSA'er Kat Abbott's face reflects disgust at the state of her locker.

MATH TEAM

Being able to work rapidly and accurately under pressure is only one of the qualities that a good Math Team member should possess. These upperclassmen must also be able to apply extensive mathematical knowledge to the solving of problems. Starting in October, team members competed against other Fairfax County High School Math Teams every other Thursday. Although the teams outwardly opposed each other, they were at the same time unified in their common desire to be victorious over each problem.



Math Team — Seated: G. Stapleton, D. Laughlin, Captain; D. Dommisse. Standing: K. Williams, D. Pomerening, E. Hastings, J. Manor.

Future Teachers — Front Row: K. Smith, K. Tice, Vice President; Mrs. Barry, Sponsor; J. Murphy, President; L. Cox. Second Row: P. King, Historian; P. Staver, Treasurer; J. Koch, Secretary. Third Row: M. Barnett, J. Brevard, B. Schurtz, J. Early, P. Wampler, B. Wesley, M. Byrd, N. McCormack, M. Barros.

Student Scientists Seek Satisfactory Solutions

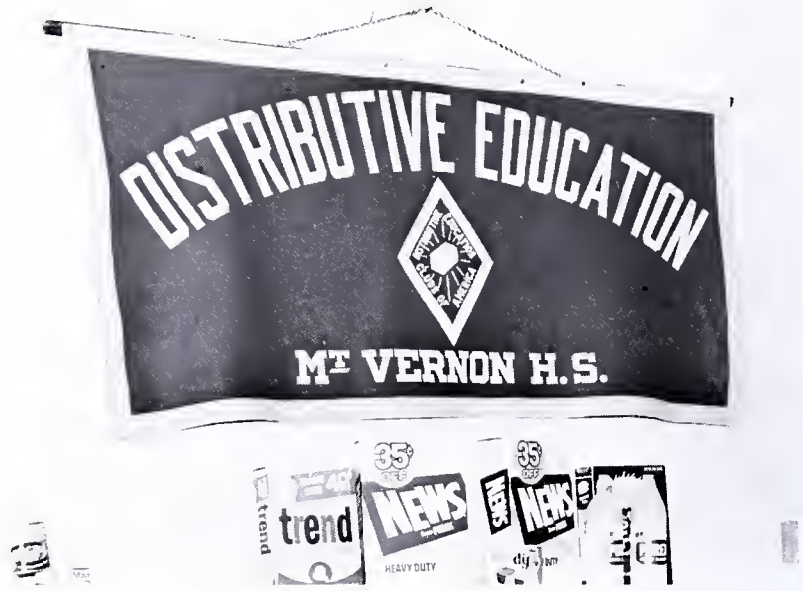
SCIENCE CLUB

For the indefatigable student scientist, who cannot be fazed by the tedious memorizing of rocks, minerals, and star charts in Earth Science, the trauma of dissecting frogs or pigs in Biology, the complex equations and suffocating odors of Chemistry class, or those impossible standardized tests in Physics, the Science Club offers an additional opportunity to explore the mysteries of nature and technology. This year the club selected a different branch of science for study each month. Some of the different topics covered were biology, chemistry, physics, medicine, and oceanography. Typically, these studies would encompass either a field trip, a lecture, or both, each month.

Science Club — Seated: C. Hagerup, L. Foust, F. Hicks, S. Wales, S. Swoboda, C. Snyder. Standing: J. Woods, S. Wunderly, W. Lorenzo, A. Phelps, T. Lieto.

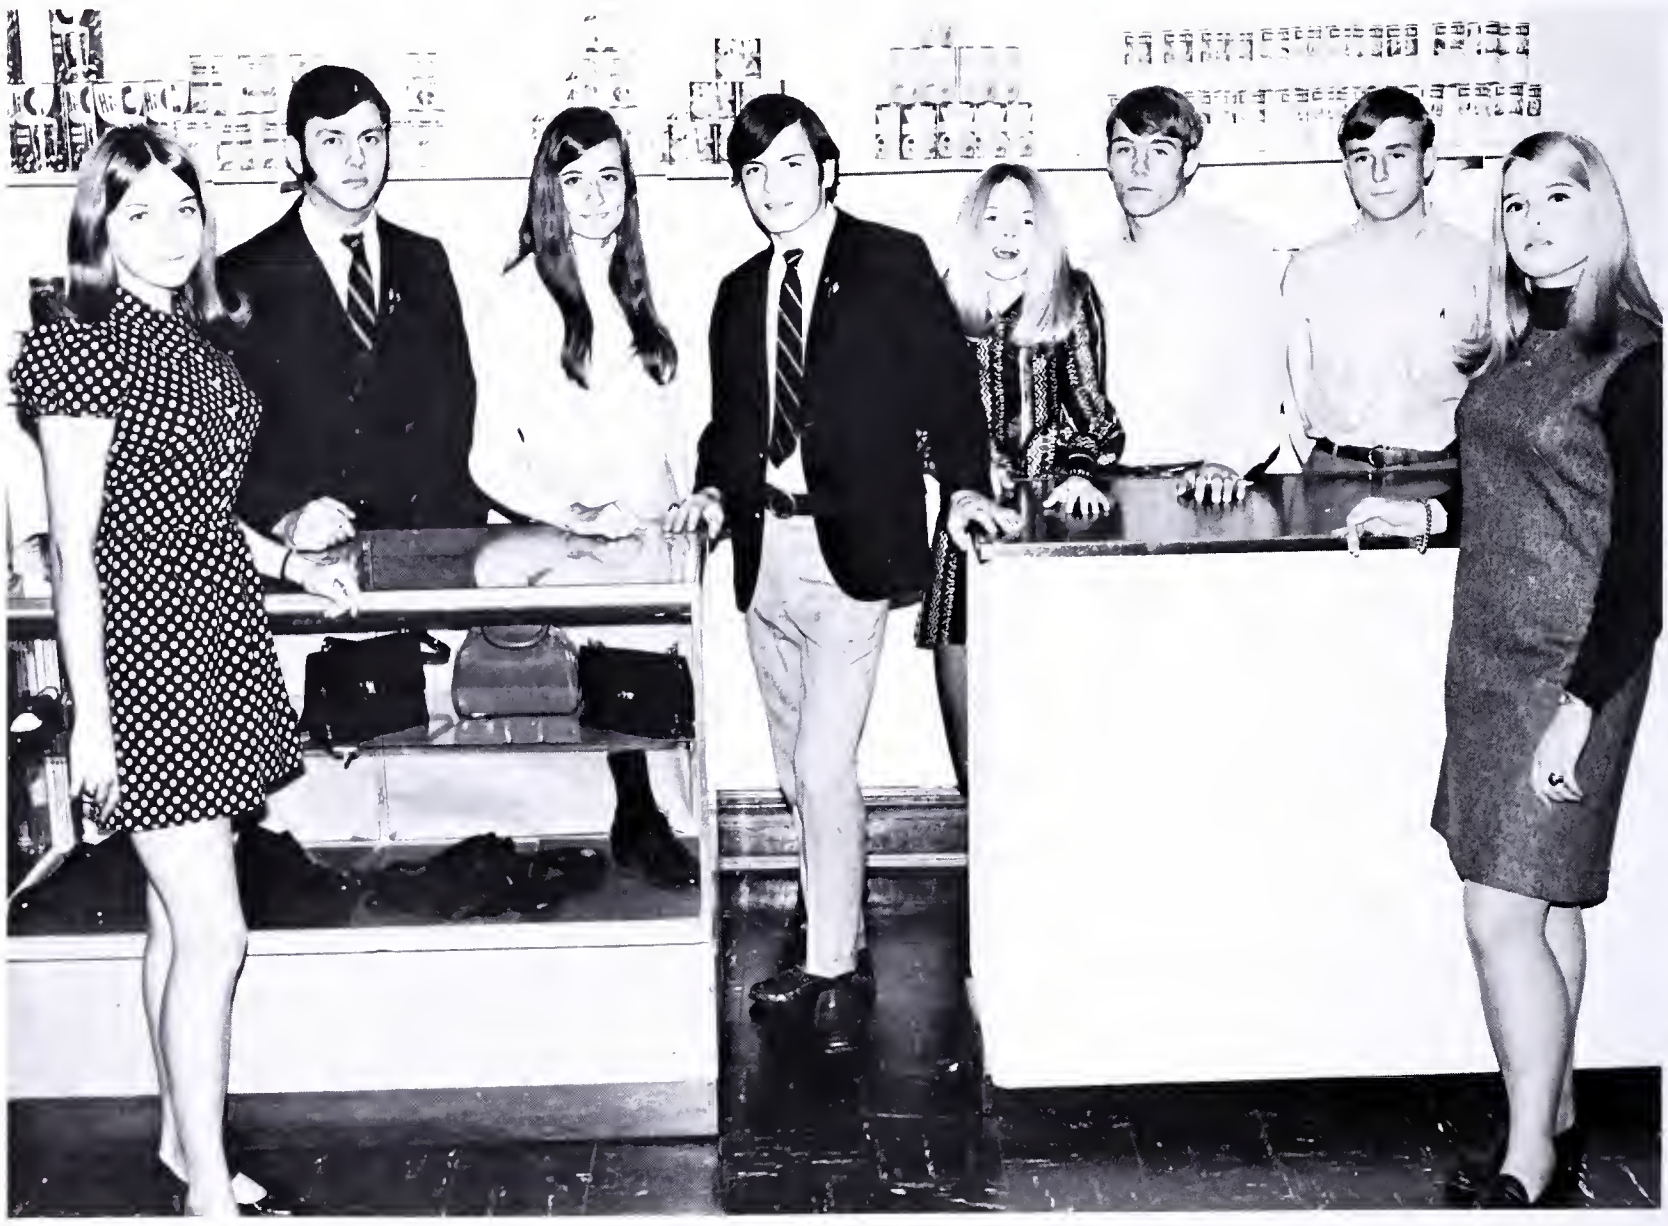
Officers — A. Wales, Treasurer, J. Rezzarday, Vice President, V. Vatsia, President, K. Sims, Secretary.

Hanging proudly in room 211 is the DE banner, uniting our club with all Distributive Education Clubs in America.



WORK PROGRAMS

That certain group of people who attend Mount Vernon part-time is an elite corps of students who get to drive to school, but more importantly they are a group of students who are involved in preparing for the business world. The departments of Distributive Education, Vocational Office Training, and Industrial Co-operative Training have three parts to their program: the regular classroom period, the on-the-job experience, and the clubs themselves which enable all the members to apply their training and prepare for their careers.



Officers: A. Price, Corresponding Secretary; M. Weaver, Vice President; K. Wilson, Treasurer; T. Keppel, President; L. Takach, Vice President; F. Shaeffer, Historian; D. Shoemaker, Parliamentarian; C. Sly, Secretary.

Distributive Education — Front Row: M. Owens, M. Whyman, C. Callan, S. Edwards, M. Swak, P. Fishbeck, W. Leckey. Second Row: T. McClain, M. Miller, B. Taylor, T. Kennedy, O. Reyes, E. Schalow, L. Pendley, G. Freeman. Third Row: Mr. Binko, Student Teacher; B. Matthews, B. Grigsby, B. Ledford, J. Perry, B. Stickles, F. Smith, Mr. Sneel, Sponsor.

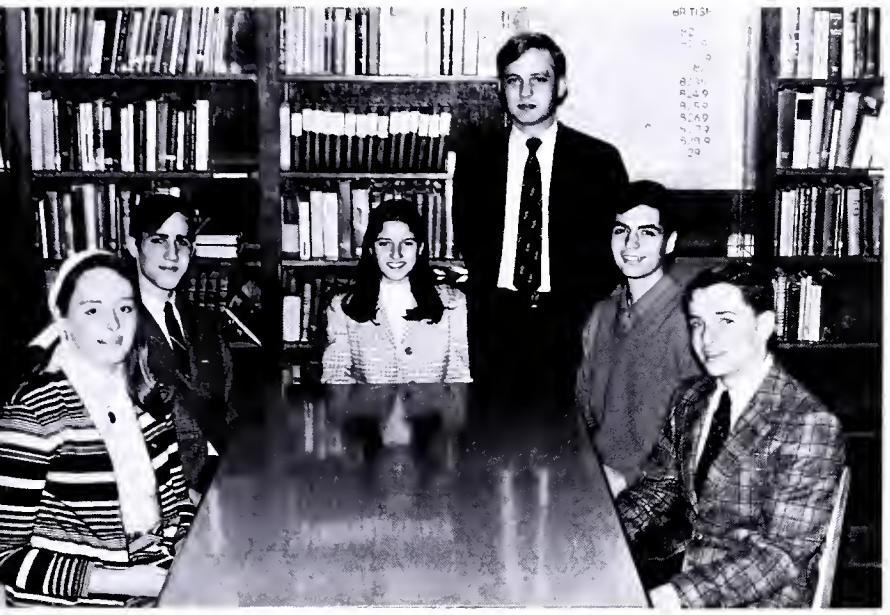
Debate Team Wins First Place

J.V. Debate: K. Sims, R. Pierce, N. Athanason, Mr. Jones, Sponsor; C. Johnston, B. Mather.



DEBATE TEAMS

There are trophies everywhere. Our Debate team has distinguished itself, with more accolades than any previous team. Tim Baker and Vicki Wells, both juniors at the time, won honors and speaker awards while our team brought home Second Place last year in the Gunston District. Bill Stagg won Fourth Place in National Competition at Columbia University. In the Cantonville Tournament where thirty-five teams from the District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia competed, our team won First Place in all divisions. Through both earned and borrowed funds, the Debate Team has furnished its own materials and transportation. Their dedication has not gone unrewarded.

Varsity Debate: L. Foust, P. Meads, Secretary; T. Baker, V. Wells, J. Blackwell, Vice President; B. Stagg, President.

SURVEYOR STAFF

The light streams into the long, narrow room from one lonely window. The room is alive with laughing, talking, screaming, crying, and typing, but underneath it all is a strong undercurrent of tension. The staff is constantly aware of the impending conflict with The Monster. As time passes The Monster comes nearer and nearer, bringing the tension to a breaking point. Finally, they meet The Monster face to face, having realized all the time it was . . . THE DEADLINE!

EM VEE HI STAFF

Assignments are posted, people disperse, and the mad rush to meet the monthly deadline is on. Pictures to be taken, layouts to be made, and errors to be corrected: all this and more goes into producing the Em Vee Hi. Expansion hit the newspaper this year when it went from the conventional four pages to a more modern six-page spread. This enabled the staff to expand its coverage to include more features and sports activities as well as to play a greater role in informing the student body of existing activities and attitudes.

Golden-Throated Youths Unite In Song

CHORAL DEPARTMENT

Consisting of seven different groups, the Choral Department presents a variety of music ranging from sacred and classical songs to popular and barbershop numbers. Especially active during the Christmas season, the department held its annual Christmas Concert with the band, and performed at Tysons Corner, the Office of the Federal Reserve Board, and at Fort Belvoir for the U.S.M.A. Prep School. Under the expert direction of Miss Hopkins, students gain both valuable musical experience and genuine enjoyment from their involvement in choral activities.

Ingenuity Breeds Excellence In Performance

MAJORETTES

During fourth period, a lively group of girls can be seen in the hall by the choral room, marching, conversing, listening to a special record, inventing new routines, or intently practicing. These girls, better known as the Majorettes, put on an admirable show during our fall sports program. Their talent allows them to try many new tricks as well as astound their audiences with their agile movements and twirling abilities.

Poised, Pat Sullivan awaits the signal to begin the Majorette's Homecoming routine.

Retreating with the Colors, the Color Guard marches off the field after the national anthem.

COLOR GUARD

One of the looked-over attractions on the football field during pre-game and half-time activities is an essential group of spirited girls. Sporting attractive uniforms, carrying guns, banner, and flags, the Color Guard faithfully fulfills the duty of leading our national anthem.

Considered officially a part of the band, the Color Guard did some branching out. They made new uniforms, had summer car washes, numerous bake sales, and displayed their talents by making "arty" Christmas decorations for a bazaar.

Band Council Gives "Marching Majors" New Look

BAND

The band had a totally new look this year. The officers organized evening practices during the summer at Walt Whitman Intermediate to help whip the band into shape for its half-time performances at football games. This entertainment was completely planned and executed by its members. This change to smart-stepping marching and a new social outlook of parties and picnics was overdue and well-received by the students.

Band Officers — B. Gross, Librarian; J. Woods, President; J. Blackwell, Vice President; F. Clevenger, Secretary-Treasurer.

DRILL TEAM

As well as marching in all types of weather and performing at all home football games, the Drill Team made up a large part of the audience at sporting events throughout the year. The girls kept up with their customary jinx dolls, locker pals, and the Winchester and George Wahington Parades. They broke with tradition by marching several times at the Fort Belvoir U.S.M.A. Prep School and fought the September heat by making new summer uniforms. The magical transformation of a bunch of giggly, gossipy girls into quiet, disci-lined ranks never ceases to surprise, and please, their audiences.

Spiriters And Cheerleaders Unite To Promote Strong School Spirit

SPIRITERS

The symbol of the Spiriters — the jug. Not a moonshine jug, but the Pep Jug, awarded to the class each week which displays the most spirit. CHEERLEADERS

Cheerleading requires an enormous amount of vivacity and creativity. These qualities were shown this summer by members of our Varsity and J.V. squads who attended cheerleading camp. Not only did the Mount Vernon girls win a "spirit stick" representing the best spirit, appearance, and attitude, they also captured the camp trophy. For the first time this year, our masters of spirit competed in a cheering contest against cheerleaders from other area high schools. They also experimented with new buttons, new cheers, and weekly hall and locker room decorations, while continuing the traditions of selling victory tags, lollipops, and spirit chain links.

Faculty

Teachers learn with us.
We are all human.
We seek the answers to questions which can be answered
only through experience . . .
the experience of living.
Together we feel the tingle which accompanies understanding . . .
we grasp it,
touch it,
and turn it over like a blind person
feeling a new face.
Will it ever come clear?
perhaps — if we search . . .
search beyond the point
at which we become weary of searching.

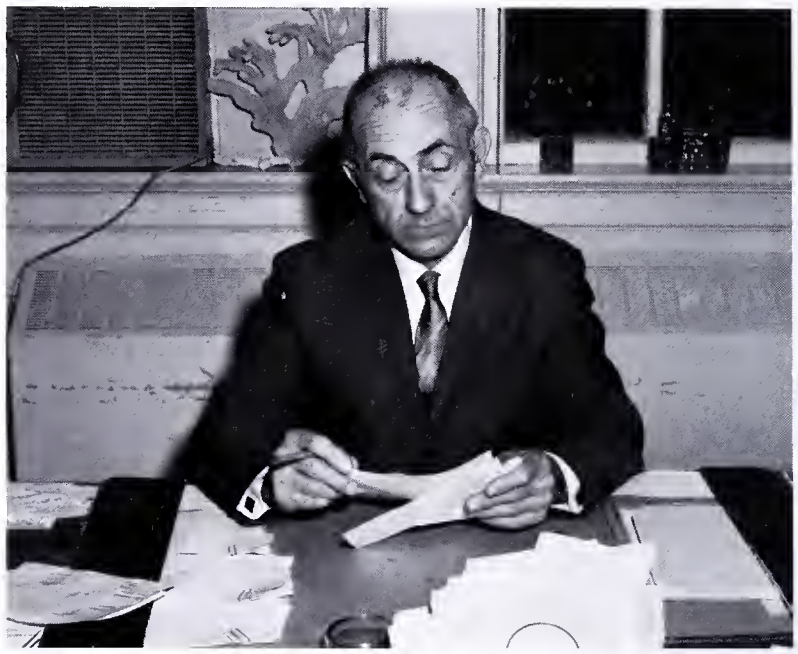
Mr. Landes Enters His 25th Year As Principal

ADMINISTRATION

Only one could meet the qualifications of Mount Vernon's man of a thousand places . . . our principal, Mr. Landes. His unmatched ability for being everywhere at once astounds, and sometimes frustrates, the student body. To a few he is only a voice heard over the public address system, but to the majority he is the adhering force of the school, ready to remedy any problem.

The assistant principals, Mr. Christiano, Mr. Kazlausky, and Mr. White, have also earned their share of respect. Whether preparing curriculum, issuing driving permits, or doling out discipline, these men are Mr. Landes' liaisons with the school.



Mr. Melvin B. Landes, Principal, and Mr. G. C. Cox, Mount Vernon's first principal, discuss changes that have taken place around the "plant". Mr. Landes shown at his desk, and at commencement, has many duties as principal.

Counselors Guide Us In Making Decisions

GUIDANCE

College catalogs and free advice are readily available in the Guidance Offices. Counselors are on duty at all times to lend an ear to our crises and conflicts, to offer consolation, and to suggest solutions acceptable to parent, student, and teacher.

Counselors assist us in making decisions that will aid in determining our success or failure in later years. They help us to balance our work load and to choose subjects which should make our academic school life an interesting and enjoyable challenge.

The guidance we receive here often helps us to finalize our future.

The rapport between Mrs. Barry and her students reflects itself as a paragon for her conferees. Julie Murphy is only one of the many students who is associated with Mrs. Barry, who not only is a counselor but also F.T.A. sponsor. Mr. Shelton's efforts in keeping his "College Information Library" current proves its validity by the number of students who use it.

LIBRARIANS

The library holds all of the varieties, or flavors, of books one may want.

Mrs. Ginsburgh, who left Mount Vernon to further her studies at the University of California at Berkley, bequeathed the library and all its wealth to Miss Vicks, her successor. Our new librarian, with the aid of Mrs. Trutt, keeps the library in top condition and ready to suit the needs of the student body.

SECRETARIES

The secretaries of Mount Vernon are always ready to lend a helping hand when we oversleep and need a little push in getting to school, when we have a dental appointment, and even when we want to check back into school. They have the task of keeping tabs on 1,600 students plus writing reports, sending out forms, and making phone calls, all of which they perform efficiently and cheerfully.

Making phone calls to the houses of the ill students is one of Mrs. Rafert's daily duties. While selling football tickets, Mrs. Johnson sneaks a peek to see what's going on outside her booth.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

Foreign languages not only teach us to communicate in a foreign tongue, but also give us a chance to learn about other cultures. The fact that "gesundheit" is not located in northern Poland was one shock felt by the first-year language students. Second-year and third-year language students read and converse in their chosen language.

Students Learn Through Practical Application

Miss Lowman lectures from her podium. Mrs. Provance grades one of the many papers produced by business students such as the one below.

BUSINESS

Soon after students enroll in Business classes they find that GWAM is not only an island in the Pacific Ocean but also a business tabulation achieved by dividing one's typing speed by one's errors. "ABCDEF" becomes a common sound in the perfection of filing skills. Students find that curlicues and squiggles have meaning, that books can actually balance, and that the art of becoming a polished receptionist is as easy as smiling through the Bell System. Familiarity with these skills will gain for many of these students better employment in future years.

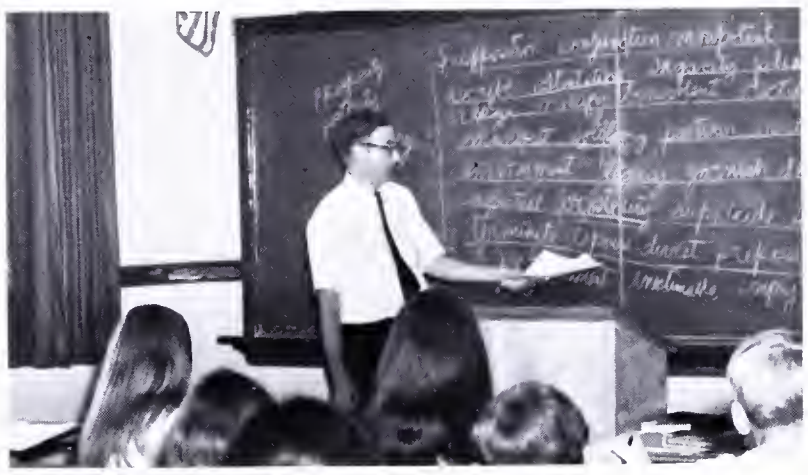
Black Literature Expands Students' Horizons

ENGLISH

According to the statistics, English is the most popular course at Mount Vernon — all enrolled students take it! Despite the fact that it is required, English receives its popularity through the enthusiasm shown by its departmental members.

This enthusiasm made it possible for one class to visit a Trappist Monastery and the replica of a medieval church during their study of Canterbury Tales. Another teacher exposed students to the world of Black, "tell it like it is", Literature which included a brief history supplemented by an independent study of chosen novels by black authors.



Through the use of vocabulary Mr. Vahey enlarges his students' word knowledge. Mrs. Cooley attentively watches the distribution of honors at the P.T.A. awards assembly.

Voice and hands combine as Miss Hopkins directs choral classes. Picking up the tempo at a football game Mr. Steinbach leads the Pep Band.

In preparing an Art History test Mrs. Locke goes researching. Coaching off stage Mr. Pauley readies for up coming play.

FINE ARTS

Throughout the year students in the Fine Arts Department learn new skills and cultivate and appreciation for the Arts. In the production of the Music Man, they learn to respect one another's talents. Drama students sing, choral students act, art students build sets, and band students, along with a sprinkling of individuals from the rest of the student body, paint sets and tie the production together.

Fine Arts highlights include a fall choral concert, the drama department's presentation of Rhinoceros, and the annual combined band and choral Christmas concert.

Through these efforts, the students of Mount Vernon become better acquainted with the fine arts.

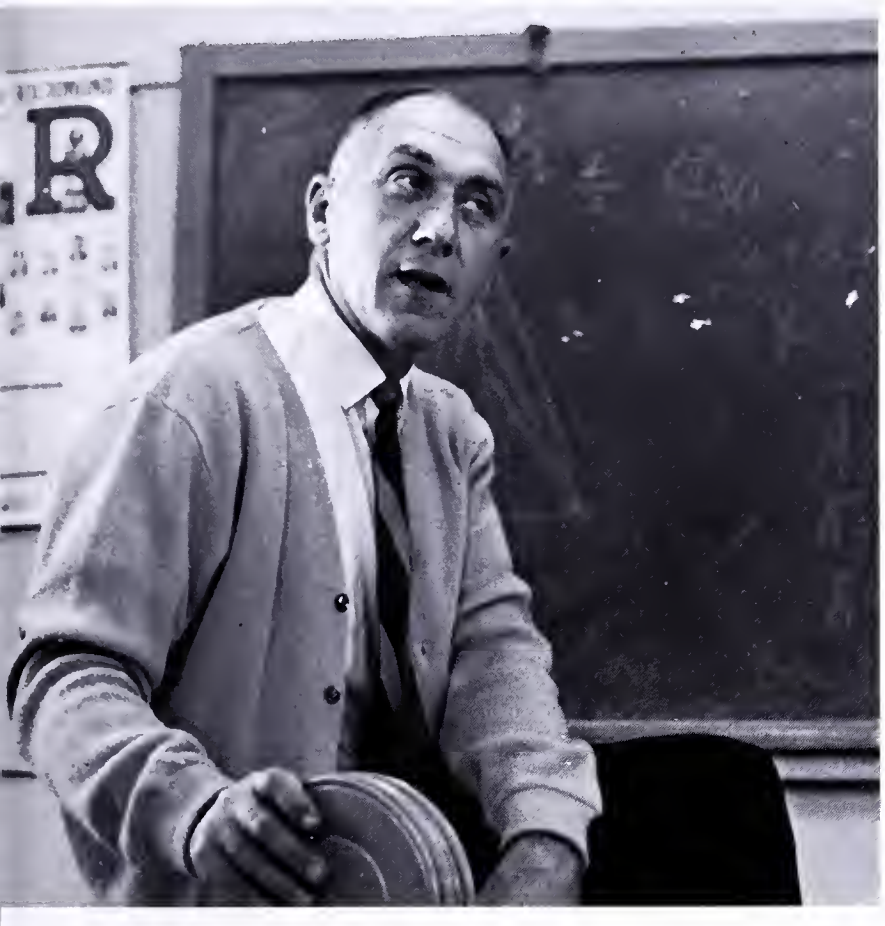
Mr. Miller's football interest seems never to hinder his academic pursuits in mathematics. Listening, Mrs. Yearick contemplates a student's question.



No More Pencils, No More Books, No More Teachers?

MATH

From the basic principles taught in General Math we progress to the advanced mathematic courses of Analytical Geometry and Calculus.

As we go through the year, our Math teachers help us learn about some of the gyrations that numbers and symbols are capable of performing. Many of the students come to the conclusion that a higher math course does not necessarily mean harder problems, just longer, more complicated ones.

In addition to our textbooks and basic tools, we have a computer this year to work advanced problems. This computer reportedly comes up with such gems as "!", "You've got the tape in backwards", and "I am the genie of the disc; insert command in slot A for proper results". This advanced machinery may relieve the need for books, pencils, and paper, but we still need an instructor to teach us how to operate the computer!

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Whether playing touch football in the cold or sweating in the corrective gym while wrestling, P.E. provides a break in the day's routine. It is a time of physical, not mental, exercise, of relaxation, and of letting yourself go. However, too often we get carried away with such freedom and are punished by the "wooden disciplinarian", well-known by many freshmen boys as well as experienced upperclassmen.

101 Ways To Disguise Yellow Cake?

CLINIC, COOKS, AND CUSTODIANS

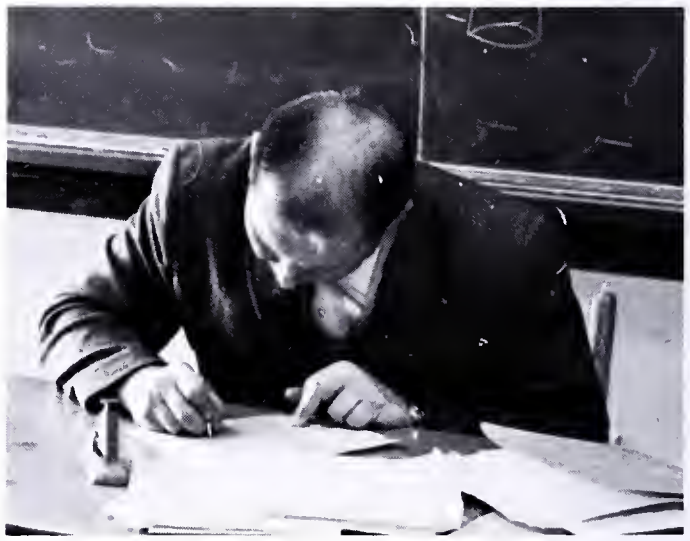
To be capable of strenuous daily exercise, our bodies must be healthy. The clinic is quite handy when one feels sick or has a major test the next period. Mrs. Peachey listens sympathetically to our aches and pains, then sends us back to class.

Our cooks have devised over 101 ways to disguise yellow cake, all of which were enjoyed during the year.

The custodians pick up the wads of paper that missed the "circular file" in our moments of being a great basketball star. They open jammed lockers, capture snakes which have escaped from the biology room, and generally help make life easier for us at "M.V."

Mrs. Strobel and our Cafeteria Staff plan and prepare nutritious meals. Mrs. Peachey is our school nurse.

You Mean I'm Putting C_6 H_{12} O_6 On My Cereal?



The difference between bases and acids are explained many times by patient Mr. Givens. A student asks Mrs. Avery a puzzling question. To solve problems Mr. Maskalenko uses observation, experiment, and a lot of guessing.

SCIENCE

The scientific method: a system of logic and analysis. Teaching a student to think in a scientific manner is the purpose of a science course. Whether observing a chemical reaction or studying the growth of plants, the object is learning to observe.

Students are amazed to find that many substances often taken for granted, such as sugar, water, and even the air we breathe, can be represented by a scientific formula.

Offering courses ranging from Earth Science and Biology to Chemistry and Physics, the Science Department provides stimulus to many to continue their studies and finally to choose a profession related to the scientific field.

By globular measurement Mrs. Harder shows her earth science students the angle of the sun.

World Conflicts Become A Reality Through Our Studies

SOCIAL STUDIES

In today's ever-changing world no field of endeavor is more complex and diverse than the realm of Social Studies. This tremendous variety is evident in Mount Vernon's Social Studies Department whose instructors range from Mr. Skinner, the "Sunshine Man" of M.V. to the more provocative Mr. Match whose personal philosophy is "Speak Loudly and Carry a Big Stick"

In keeping pace with the changing complexion of the Social Studies curricula, a new dimension has been added. In view of college demands, certain government classes are conducting independent studies programs which allow students to do more co-ordinated research in the library

Increased independence is only one example of the Social Studies program's effort to introduce the students to the responsibilities of the changing world through participation.

Vocational Guidance Gives Essential Training

After instructing in homemaking subjects, Mrs. Roberston faces the tedious job of grading. By lecture or by demonstration, one of Mr. Snell's main concerns is the student's proficiency in the business world.

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE

The Home Economics cottage is always open to us in our minor emergencies. Split seams, fallen hems, and torn shirts give students a chance to apply their skills.

Students in the Metal, Wood, and Automobile Shop classes learn skills they will be able to use the rest of their lives, whether as odd-job man around the house or as producer of high-quality craftsmenship.

Skills learned in these Vocational Guidance classes contribute to the growth of individuals, families, communities, and a better nation.

They Keep Smiling Through It All

FACULTY

Our teachers have their "grumpy" days, but so do we. They contend with crowded classrooms, ancient facilities, and "crazy" students 185 days of the year. They complain about in-service training days, doughnut shortages, and bad coffee. They cheer for our teams, chaperone our dances, and sponsor our clubs. And most of the time, they can be found smiling.

Mr. Yednock always has a smile for the camera. Getting away from it all Mr. Price and Mr. Givens relax in the faculty lounge. Mrs. Gates . . . smiling?

Speaking to English IV students, Mr. Fonteroy tells of Black Society and himself. Students enter the shop room to be greeted by Mr. Croom's friendly goggled face. Mrs. Chambers is "our girl friday" in the guidance office.

The SURVEYOR editors wish to acknowledge the help and assistance of:

American Yearbook Company and Mr. Neil Watson for their extreme understanding.

MacIntyre and Dlemar Studios for the student body portraits.

Howard and Ruth Marlar for their invaluable counseling and photographic aid.

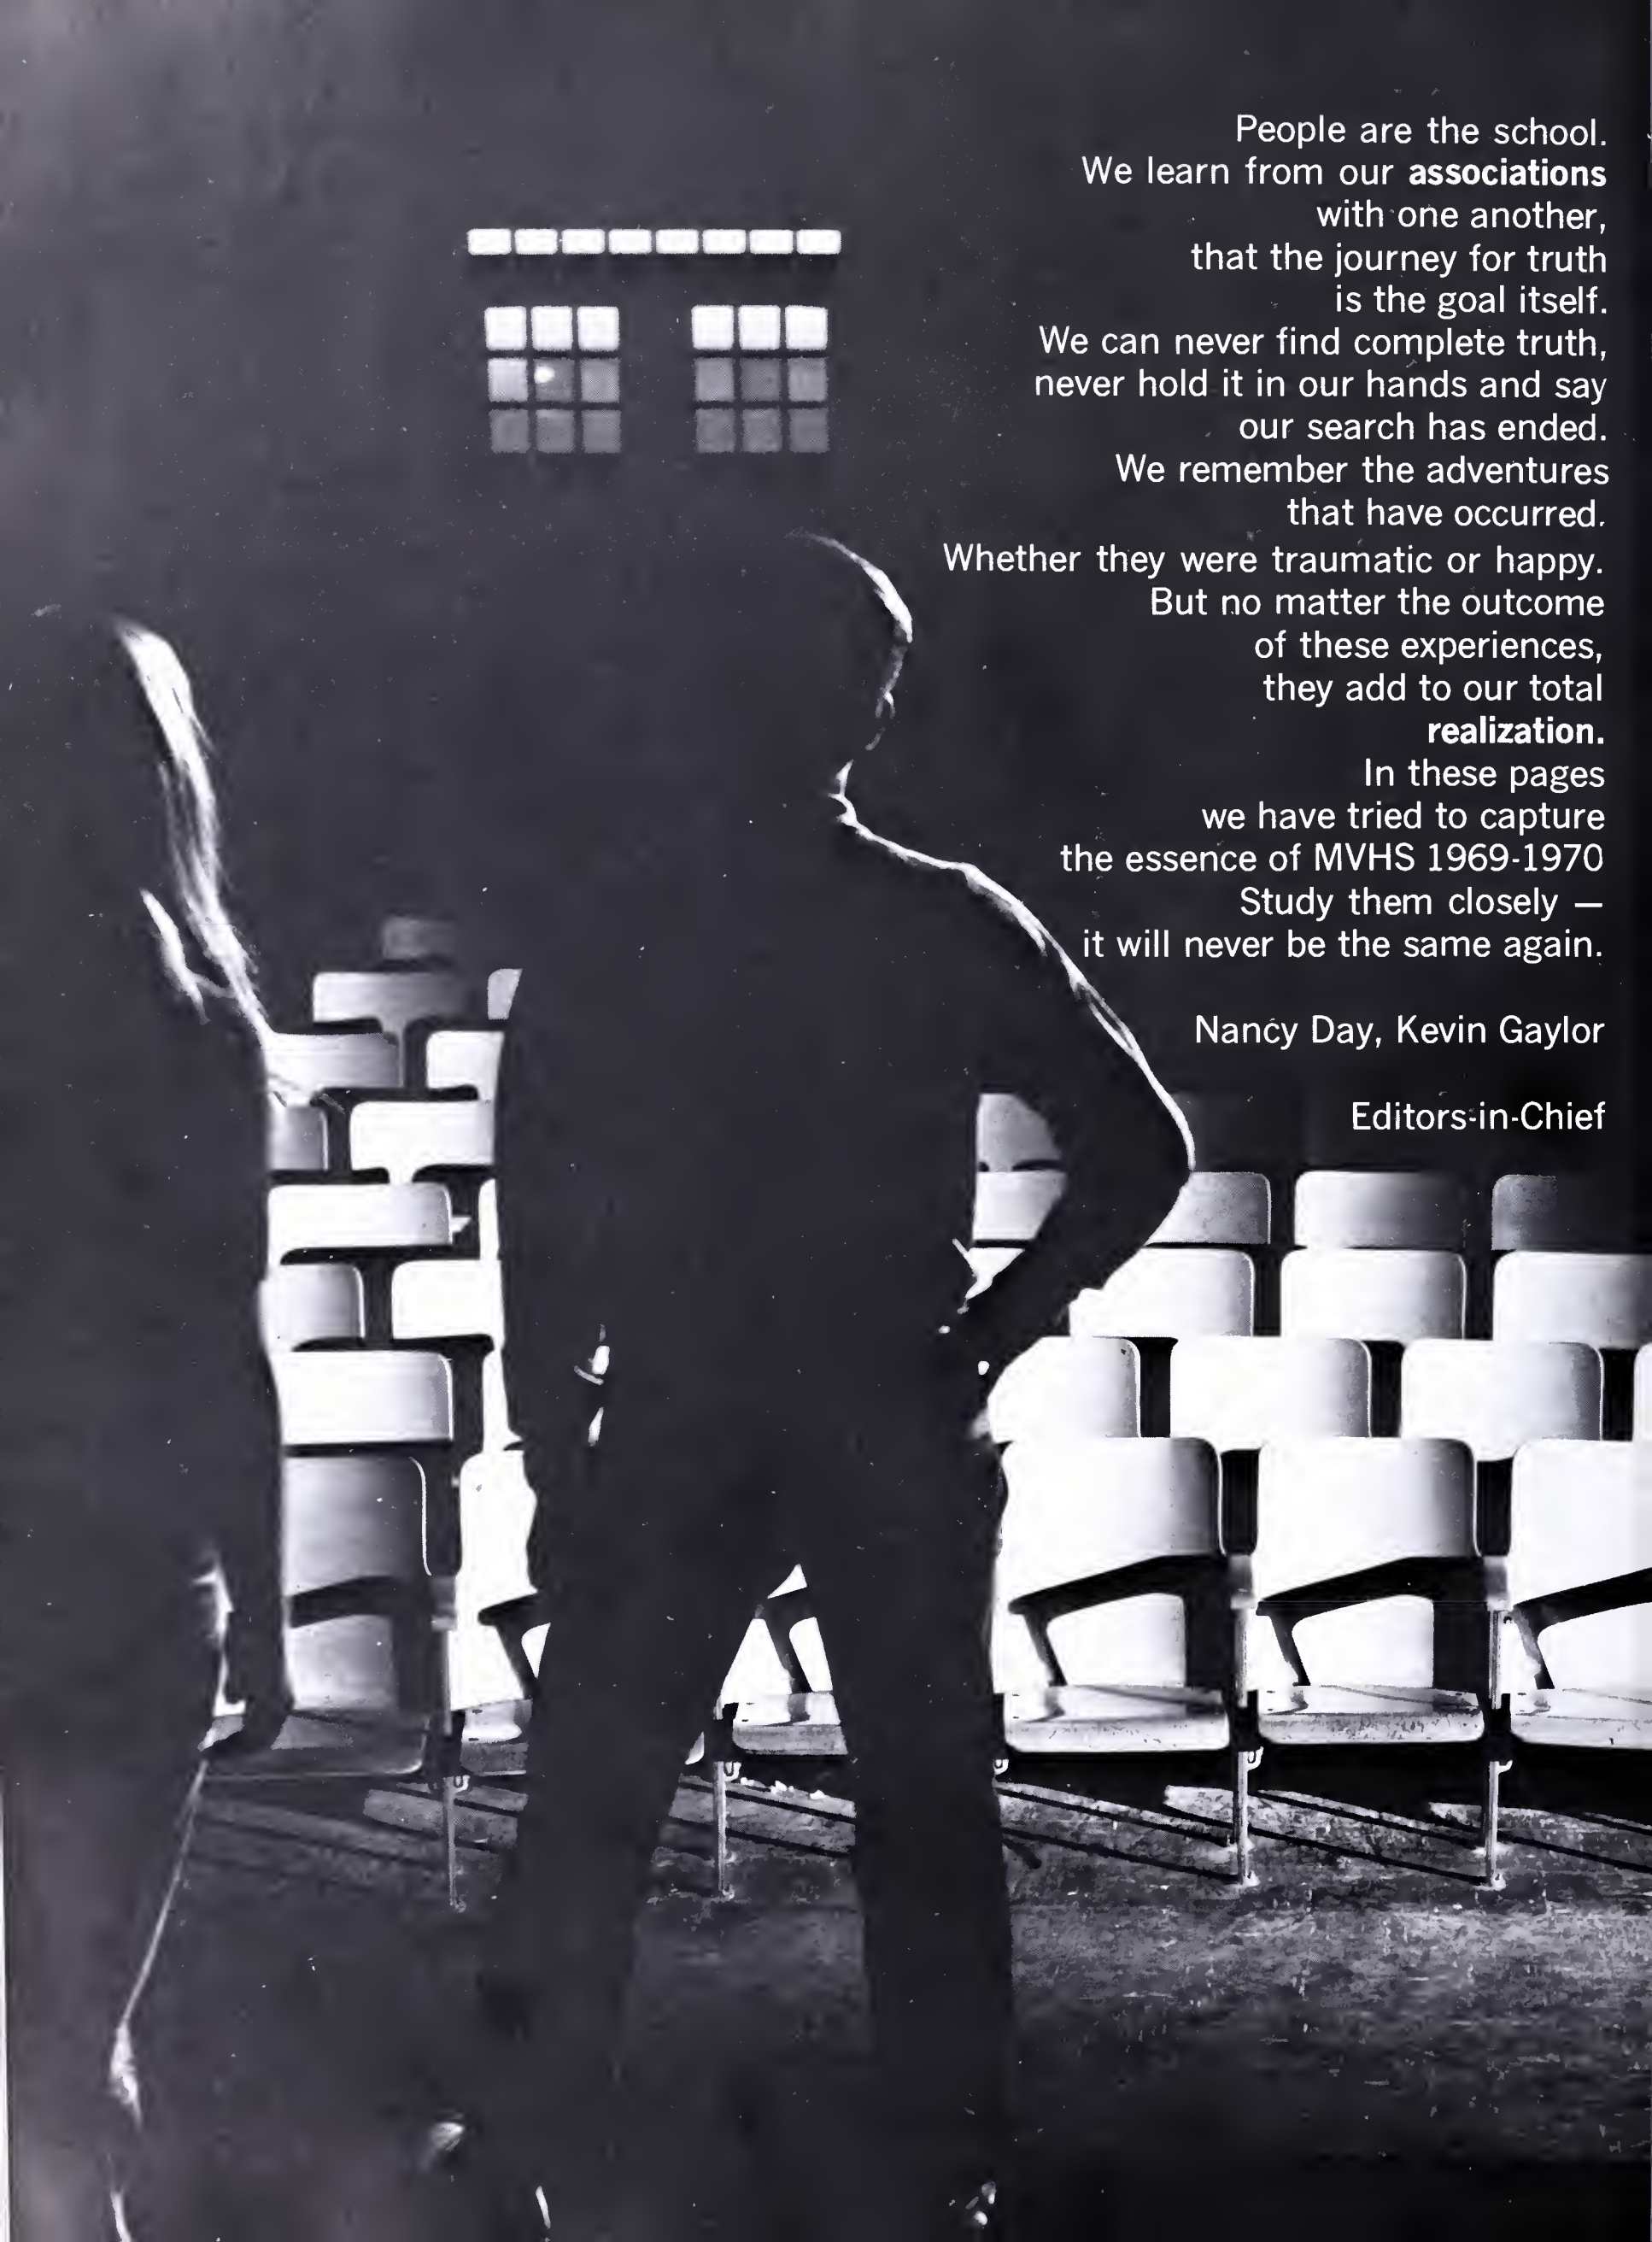
Kim Oxley and Peggy Barron who as staff members contributed beyond that required of them.

Eugene Hastings for his four years as our yearbook photographer.

Robert King, as photographer who served with great devotion on his first year on the staff.

Vicki Hayes for her inspiring thoughts put to paper and her understanding.

Mr. Herman Thomason for his many hours of devotion, prodding, and patience.



People are the school.
We learn from our associations
with one another,
that the journey for truth
is the goal itself.
We can never find complete truth,
never hold it in our hands and say
our search has ended.
We remember the adventures
that have occurred.
Whether they were traumatic or happy.
But no matter the outcome
of these experiences,
they add to our total
realization.
In these pages
we have tried to capture the essence of MVHS 1969-1970 Study them closely —
it will never be the same again.
